Credit card	$8,000 limit; $1,150 balance
Car loan	$16,800 balance
Student loan	$18,500 balance
Available settlement funds	$82,000 shown; $25,000 credit requires source evidence

Reasoning

Julie requires an owner-occupied purchase loan with a full offset, variable-rate flexibility and the ability to make additional repayments. Westpac, ANZ and Macquarie options were compared. Westpac was preferred because the product features, serviceability result and expected settlement pathway aligned most closely with the recorded objectives. The recommendation remains subject to lender approval, valuation and satisfactory evidence for all funds to complete.

Material risks and limitations explained

Variable-rate risk	Repayments may rise if interest rates increase.
Cash buffer	Using settlement funds will reduce Julie's available cash reserve.
Valuation risk	A lower lender valuation may change the required contribution or LVR.
Lender conditions	Conditional approval is not an unconditional commitment to lend.
Contract advice	Cooling-off and contract consequences must be confirmed by the conveyancer.

Outstanding evidence

Requires review
A $25,000 credit into Julie's offset account on 28 May 2026 has not yet been evidenced. The broker must record the source accurately and satisfy any lender requirement before treating funds to complete as verified.
